Automating compliance procedures to eliminate company exposure to risk

Compliance Automation

By deploying TaskCentre to automate your compliance procedures you remove repetitive administration from employee workloads, reduce risk, enforce business rules and realise the business benefits compliance is designed to deliver. It sounds great doesn't it?

Orbis Software and its global partner community have collaborated to deliver the drag and drop functionality you need to automate your compliance procedures.

The Problem:

Regulatory, industry or company created compliance procedures are designed to reduce risk and raise standards. Sadly, most compliance procedures create a myriad of tasks that have to be manually monitored, executed and processed. This is where risk creeps into the compliance process.

The Solution:

TaskCentre removes employees from the labour intensive aspects of compliance e.g. monitoring, reporting and processing of compliance activities. In short, TaskCentre is a virtual compliance team

Reducing the pains of regulatory compliance

Organisations are constantly under pressure to comply with regulatory laws. Yet this legal drive for improvement has burdened businesses with large administrative overheads and placed compliance in the unpredictable hands of employees or business units.

TaskCentre enables organisations to automate the enforcement and automation of compliance procedures therefore removing reliance on employees to monitor and process tasks.

Surpassing industry standards and compliance

Industry standards, whether they are statutory or voluntary, can grossly inflate employee workloads. Furthermore, in many industries failure to achieve an industry standard can completely remove your product or service from the customer evaluation process and hand a competitive advantage to industry rivals.

TaskCentre significantly reduces the administrative overhead associated with industry standards by adding workflow, automation and application integration capabilities to your processes. To many of our customers, TaskCentre is their compliance officer.

Addressing company compliance procedures

Compliance procedures are often associated with regulatory laws such as SOX or industry standards like ISO but the vast majority of compliance procedures are internal and unique to your business. Sadly, this means the majority of compliance procedures are manually conducted.

TaskCentre will dynamically monitor your compliance processes that are critical to your business, enforce procedures, automate processes and route workflows.
